

Build a future that will last for generations with EY Family Office Advisory Services

It's a journey ... where are you?

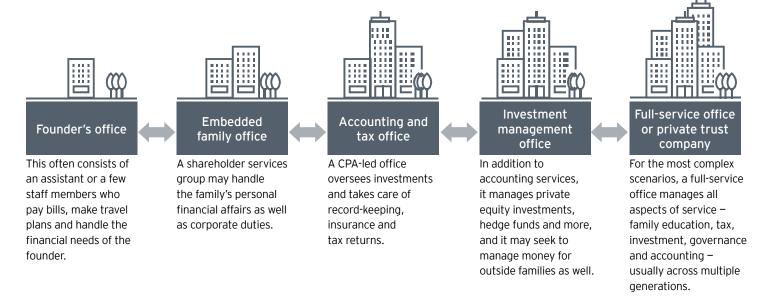

Family offices face challenges that distinguish them from other entities – challenges that, if not addressed, can reduce wealth, jeopardize family unity or derail the family's legacy. Here are a few of the common challenges:

- Increased financial complexity and pressure for transparency raise significant concern about tax and regulatory issues.
- Urgency around digital transformation and preparing for potential cybersecurity breaches that can create financial losses or jeopardize secrecy and privacy.
- Lack of a robust risk management framework and process for identifying and mitigating risks including IT security, legal, audit, tax and competitive risks, as well as threats from creditors and regulators.
- Mounting pressure to focus on nonfinancial performance and long-term value prompts consideration of outsourcing some activities.
- Growing concerns about wealth preservation and succession planning within family businesses and difficulty aligning interests between the business, advisors and family when multiple advisors work with multiple family members threatening sustainability and continuity.

Whether you are creating a new family office, separating the family office from the family business or shepherding an existing office, it is important to ask how you are helping your family secure its financial future and legacy for the next and future generations.

Consider the evolution of family offices

A family office can take many forms. As family wealth increases and business needs get more complex, the family office may evolve from a simple founder's office into a complex, full-service company. And the office could revert over time.

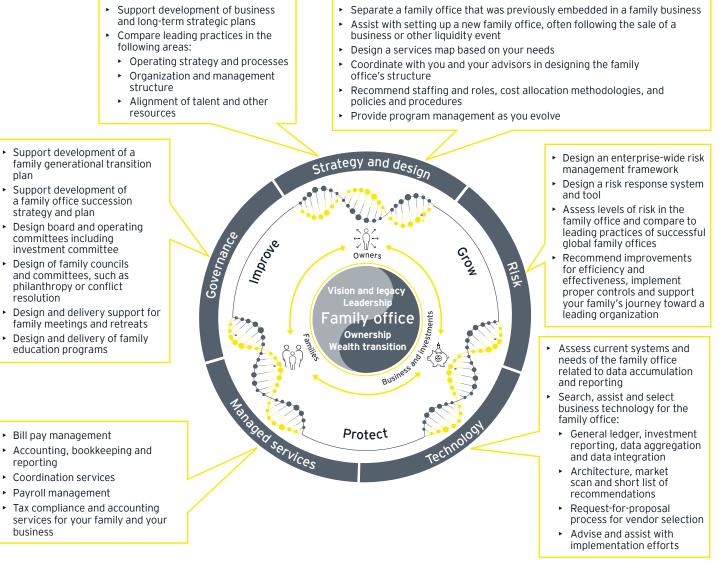

Our approach

Each family office is positioned at the center of the owners, families, and the businesses and investments they own. Family office leaders support the family's vision and legacy, leadership, ownership and wealth transition decisions with a focus on protection, improvement and growth. Our job is to support the legacy of your family office through our customized approach to the DNA of a family office, including strategy, design, governance, risk, technology and managed services. What does legacy look like to you?
